Towns of Redcliffe and Grassy Lake Almost Wiped Out

Calgary, June 25.—Two persons killed, ten injured, property damage of half a million dollars at Redcliffe, near Medicine Hat, and the business section of Grassy Lake almost obliterated, was the heavy toll taken tonight by a tornado, similar to the famous Regina cyclone, that swept through the district east of Calgary.

With almost all wires down, details were meagre and the amount of damage may be even greater when the final census is taken.

The tornado struck Grassy Lake, a small town on the Medicine Hat-Lethbridge line, about seven o'clock, tearing the roof off the hotel, wiping out the lumber yards, wrecking the drug store, blowing a whole freight train off the track, and completely demolishing a farm house. In the house were Mrs. Olson and her four children. The mother and a girl of ten were instantly killed. Three small children were badly injured and were rushed to the nearest hospital.

The tornado sweeping on, playing havoc with crops, struck Redcliffe a few minutes later. Almost the whole of the business area was laid in ruins and in the collapse of numerous buildings no less than seven persons were injured, three severely.

Redcliffe, Alta., June 25.—One of the fiercest cyclones that has ever experienced in this district passed over the town about a quarter past six this evening.

For hours before the storm broke treacherous looking clouds were seen approaching from the south, and just as they appeared to be over the town the wind changed and almost immediately, without a minute's notice, the cyclone struck doing damage which at the present time is hard to estimate. The gale seemed to strike the whole town, and in all directions buildings were blown down, roofs lifted, telephone poles blown over, and when the storm had subsided the town was almost a total wreck in all directions.

Almost every large building was more or less damaged, and besides a number of private houses were damaged more or less. So far no deaths are reported, but about a dozen people are seriously injured. In one two-story frame building, owned by Mr. Rosin, his mother and brother were caught in the wrecked building and it was with some difficulty the firemen succeeded in getting them out from under the debris. Mrs. Rosin had her collar bone broken and the son had his leg broken.

Among the buildings damaged were the Iron Works, the Planning Mill, the Cigar Factory, Spaulding's warehouse, the Overland Departmental Store, Redcliffe Club, Knitting Mill, The Laurel Hotel, Goodie Block, O'Fallen's Greenhouse, Crow's Block and Dr. Brown's Block. All these buildings are three-story buildings and in some cases the roofs and top stories are a total wreck.

Among the private dwellings damaged were some of the finest in the town. Almost every house in the residential district was more or less hit. Some only had the chimneys blown off, while others had their kitchens, porches and verandahs blown away.

The private residence belonging to the Royal Bank, one of the finest in town, had the roof blown completely off, and the city stand pipe close by had the top carried two hundred yards out into the prairie. One residence, occupied by Mrs. Ross and her two grandchildren, was completely demolished, and the old lady just reached the street a few seconds before the building disappeared.

Those who have been investigating, estimate the damage at the present time at about half a million dollars. Scarcely a small building is left standing and the streets are literally covered with broken timbers, tin roofing and shingles. The mysterious part of the whole affair is that so far no one is reported killed or seriously injured. The fire brigade was called out and are doing all they can to make traffic safe and care for those who have had their homes wrecked.

Clive News

P. E. Bradley was visiting his brother, Rev. W. L. Bradley, for a few days last week. He left on Friday for his home at Vancouver.

The last issue of the Alberta Gazette contains the appointment of Guy C. Wilson, of Clive, and A. W. Lawson, of Tees, as stock inspectors, also the retirement of H. W. Bickle, of Clive, as stock inspector.

Word has been received this week that Archie McGill was killed in the trenches in France very recently. The late Mr. McGill was raised in this district, he having come here as a boy and resided with his parents on their farm some four miles south of town, for the past sixteen years.

The manager of the Golden Rod Creamery informs us that the demand for their butter is so great that they are unable to meet it. He desires that we should urge all the farmers of the district to bring in all the cream that they can possibly spare. Under these circumstances it is hardly necessary to state that the highest prices will be paid.

The C.P.R. have acceded to the council's request and have lengthened their crossing on Main street. The council have now requested that a cinder walk be laid from the C.P.R. platform due east to Main street. The live stock shippers will also be pleased to learn that instructions have been given to have the stock yards cleaned and put in good shape.

The usual crop of record breakers is beginning to assert itself again. At the local hardware store there is to be seen a sample of fall rye over six feet long and nicely headed out. This was grown on the farm of C. E. Minnick, and is a fair sample of what may be seen everywhere in this district. There will be a wonderful crop harvested in this district this fall provided no untoward calamities happen. The season has never been better in the history of this district.

justified, but such was the story of the farmers, and under the circumstances the decision to appoint a commission of inquiry, upon the recommendation of the agricultural committee of the house was well justified.

One of the first complaints dealt with was with reference to the loss arising from misrepresentation made by agents of machinery companies for which the companies refused to assume responsibility. In the opinion of the commission the remedy can be found by providing a contract wherein the company will be compelled to state specifically in writing by way of warranty exactly what work the machine will do. This will remove from agents the opportunity for misrepresentation or at least misunderstanding.

Mr. Turgeon laid great stress on the importance of the contract and read extracts from judgments dealing with the unfairness of the contract at present in use.

Mr. Bradshaw (Peirce Albert), following Mr. Turgeon, stated that if he had any criticism to offer it would be that it was late in the session to bring the bills in. He objected on general grounds to the formation of a commission to investigate conditions. He was followed by Hon. George Langley, minister of municipal affairs, who paid a high tribute to the drafting of the bills and the explanations given by the attorney-general of the various matters in connection therewith.

Arbordale News

The meeting held at Mr. and Mrs. Whittecot's last Wednesday was called off until July 7th, as some of the main members were unable to come. A large crowd attended and the evening was spent in dancing and everyone enjoyed themselves, especially after supper, when the graphophone gave us some fine selections.

The next meeting will be held at Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Rowland's on Wednesday, July 7th. A good time is expected.

Everybody enjoyed themselves at Kanngiesser's dance, but the crowd was not so large, owing to the heavy rain Friday evening. B. F. Butcher is starting to break this week with his engine for Mr. F. Butcher.

A. C. Bruns is erecting a new granary 40x24, also an elevator in connection. Lewis Tisdale goes up and down the roads with some speed nowadays.

We wish Iowalla would give us a football game in the near future.

DO IT NOW!

The Department of Agriculture begs to advise the farmers of the Province that in view of the large increase in the acreage seeded to grain and the promising crop conditions, there is likely to be a very great demand this season for harvest help, and as there are a large number of unemployed workmen in our cities at the present time, it would be well to engage such help as may be needed at the earliest possible moment.

Hitherto it has been the policy of the railway companies to induce westward immigration for harvest help, but this year it may be assumed that no such movement will be possible, as conditions in the eastern provinces are very similar to those in the west, with very little or no immigration from Europe.

At the present time there are a certain number of unemployed in Alberta. There are now however, over 100,000 men under arms, and recruiting is progressing steadily. Before harvest, therefore, it is safe to conclude that upward of 50,000 more men will have been withdrawn. It is also expected that railway and municipal work will rapidly employ many of the present unemployed, so there is likely to be a scarcity of help for harvest work if arrangements are not made at once to secure the necessary assistance.

ANOTHER ARMORY FIRED

Meaford, Ont., June 25.—An attempt to set fire to Meaford armory was discovered here by the caretaker, F. J. Roper. A can filled with rags, saturated with coal oil and a fuse with the end burned off, was found in the cellar window, along with some kindling wood. Apparently the fire failed to get a proper start, as only the end of the fuse was burned.

GERMANY REAL FOE OF ITALY

Rome, June 25.—"Italy's real enemy is not Austria, but Germany," declared Giuseppe Garibaldi today. "If Germany wins she will next attempt to conquer the United States and Italy and make herself the culture of the world. I have joined the Italian forces because now is Italy's supreme opportunity to save herself from German domination."

MAIL CARRIER TO BE CHARGED WITH MURDER

Edmonton, July 28.—Stanley Woodard, the mail carrier between Wabamun and Lac St. Anne, who was arrested on Friday in connection with the Stanger chocolate poisoning case, was brought to Edmonton on Saturday and formally remanded. A charge of murder in the first degree has been laid against him. No further details are available, and Superintendent Wroughton states that the case will not be proceeded with until some time during July. No further arrests have been made at present.

CALGARY LOSSES FROM FLOOD WILL TOTAL $450,000

Calgary, June 26.—The worst is over, following the fierce storms and floods of Saturday at Calgary. Three-quarters of a million dollars will cover the damage done in the city. The Bow and Elbow rivers which rose eight feet in a few hours, carrying away two bridges, flooding scores of houses, carrying two men to death, cutting off the natural gas supply of the city, and causing washouts on the C.P.R., south and west of the city, are subsiding just as rapidly and will be back at normal tomorrow unless further storms develop.

Working under intense difficulty the Natural Gas Company succeeded in mending the break on Sheep Creek, 30 miles from the city, where the torrent has swept a section of the line clean away by Sunday morning, and gas was turned on in the city about noon.

The Canadian Pacific Railway repaired the break in the mountains at Field caused by a mudslide 20 hours after it developed. Huge gangs are at work now wrestling with the washouts on the south line at Okotoks and Sandstone, but these will not be repaired until tomorrow. All trains south are held up in the meanwhile.

Following the violent storm, the worst known for thirteen years, a spell of fine clear weather has succeeded.

Calgary, June 26.—An unknown man was drowned, City Commissioner Garden was carried half a mile down the Bow river and City Engineer Craig was rescued by a long rope when the Centre street bridge was carried away by the flood at noon today. Garden was rescued by two men who put out in a boat and took him off a piece of the bridge wrecked to which he had clung. This proceeded with until some time during July. No further arrests have been made at present.

In anticipation of a "dry" Alberta, the Jesse Fraser Agency has installed, at considerable expense, a most up-to-date and pretty water cooler, and the thirsty are invited to drop in and quench their thirst with pure spring water—always cold. The firm has installed this fixture upon the solicitation of Allan MacDonald, who believes in being prepared for emergencies. It is taken as a strong indication that Alberta will surely go dry.

The meeting of the Lakeside U.F.A. called for Thursday, has been postponed until Friday evening, July 2. The change is made on account of Thursday being Dominion Day.

Four hundred and seventy-five "blind pigs" were raided by the police in Alberta last year. And yet the license holders will try and have the people believe that prohibition is the cause of illicit whisky selling.

A meeting in the interests of prohibition will be held in Lincoln school house on Sunday next, July 4, at 3 p.m. Everyone invited.

The Inland Revenue Bulletin, issued by the Dominion Government, proves very conclusively that Lacombe is being supplied with better milk than any other town in the Province. A list of all dealers is given, with the test of milk taken by inspectors this spring. McCormick & Waddell, Bros., of Lacombe, head the list, the percentage of butter fat being 6.25. In many cases the butter fat is around 2.70, and the nearest to Lacombe is a Red Deer milkman, with butter fat test of 4.25.

The Cadet sports will be held tomorrow on the Fair Grounds. All arrangements are now completed, and a large crowd is looked for. The Red Deer Cadet Bugle Band will be here, and contingents from other towns will swell the crowd. A splendid prize list is offered.

The town council has appointed Dr. Harrington inspector of meats for the municipality. Hereafter all meat offered for sale in town will have to pass inspection. No meat killed in the old slaughter house on the west road will be allowed to be sold in town after July 1. A milk inspector will also be appointed shortly, and cows will have to pass the tuberculin test.

The Orangemen have about completed arrangements for their grand celebration to be held here on July 12th. Thousands of Orangemen from all parts of Alberta will be here. A full program of the day's arrangements will be printed next week.

A lot of news is crowded out of this issue, but as summer holidays are on our readers may be glad of the rest.

Thistle Inn is in full blast at Gull Lake. Manager McPherson expects to have his popular house full all summer. The grocery department is now stocked with everything necessary for the housekeeper, and fresh fruit, butter, eggs, etc., will be a specialty.

Lacombe for Clean Alberta

Clareholm constituency is making the boast that it will be the banner prohibition constituency in Alberta on July 21st, and the workers for a clean Alberta are laying claim to 95 per cent. of the votes to be polled on that day. Okotoks, according to the last paper from that town, says Clareholm will have to take second place, as the people of the "oil" territory will be practically unanimous. The two southern constituencies will probably have to take a back seat from Lacombe. Reports from all parts of this riding, clear from the Lobstick to Mirror, could not be brighter. It seems that everyone, irrespective of nationality, is favorable to the Liquor Act, and will pile up an enormous majority on July 21st. While some of the electors would like to have seen the Liquor Act more strongly prohibitive, they now realize that it is as strong as the Province has power to make it, and that at all events it will put out the greatest evil of the liquor traffic—the bar and the treating system.

The service next Sunday morning in the Presbyterian church will be the patriotic service for Sunday schools. There will be suitable hymns and recitations, and an address on "Loyalty." The Sunday school will assemble in the basement at a quarter to eleven o'clock.

Owing to the great floods of the Red Deer river, Lacombe's power house was put out of business on Saturday last, the waters going clear over the machinery. Steam was got up on Sunday in the town plant and power will be obtained here until the water plant is repaired.

The local Masons attended service at the Methodist church on Sunday evening last.

The opera house was crowded to the doors on Tuesday evening, on the occasion of the lecture by Mrs. Nellie McClung. The great interest manifested by people from the country, who were there by scores, shows what a great hold prohibition has on this district.

hundred and seventy-six (476), FOUR HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-SIX blind pigs were raided and their keepers convicted. Of this number only twelve (12) were in the dry portion of the Province north of Edmonton. These figures are from the statistics of the Alberta License Department.

Asked by The Western Globe as

THE EXHIBITION.

Thanks to the good work of President Evans and other members of the Lacombe Agricultural Society, The Central Alberta Exhibition will be held as usual this year. Prize lists are now in the hands of the printers and will be ready for mailing within the next two or three weeks.

Up until a week ago, owing to the difficulties of financing, the Board had almost concluded that there would be no Fair this year. This was not in accordance with the views of the President, however, and he got busy got the other members of the Board into line, and started a campaign for funds, the result of which has exceeded all expectations. The citizens and farmers responded to the call, and now money ample for the occasion has been secured and the Lacombe Exhibition of 1915 will beat all records.

The prize list has been thoroughly revised, prizes increased in several classes, and other classes inserted. Every kind of horses and cattle, sheep and hogs, poultry, etc., is on the list.

To the citizens and farmers of the district the thanks of the Board of Directors is due, and the Agricultural Society is to be congratulated on having a president who does not let little things like money stand in his way when the welfare of the district is at stake.

THE U.F.A. PICNIC.

The picnic at the Experimental Farm on Wednesday last, under the auspices of Lgkside U.F.A., was a most successful one, over two hundred farmers from all parts of the Lacombe district being present. They report the farm to be in splendid shape this year, and were greatly struck with the great number and variety of experiments being carried on. Superintendent Hutton did all he could to make the visit profitable to holidaymakers, and the ladies provided ample refreshments. Another visit will be made to the farm later in the season.

Arbordale News

In an article in last week's item I notice a wish that the Sec. Treas. of the U.F.A. of Arbordale, would open his purse and come through with that money he owes the ball team from last year; we think it is time. I would like to inform the writer of this article that I have never had any instructions through our meetings authorizing me to pay that money, and I certainly do not intend to pay it until instructed to do so. I have heard that considerable comment has been made regarding this matter, but the writer is not manly enough to come to the monthly meetings and ask about this account, but sneakingly puts what I consider a personal slur in the paper, no doubt thinking that I to the feeling of the people in the Ponoka district on prohibition, he said that from what he could learn from all parts of his district, the vote will be overwhelmingly favorable. He had never seen the people so strongly united on any question before, and he was of the opinion that three to one would be a conservative estimate.

will be called by his bluff: Had the writer come and seen me about it he would have been given the full particulars why the money has not been paid. But now the writer can just wait until the next meeting is held. I am transacting to the best of my ability the business of the Arbordale U.F.A., and do not wish to be dictated to by an outsider who is evidently holding a personal grudge.

ERNEST MADDEN.

Sec. Treas. Arbordale U.F.A. The next regular meeting of the Arbordale U.F.A. No. 454 will be held at the home of Mr. D. C. Fawcett on July 5th. Everybody welcome.

Quite a number from this district attended the picnic at the Experimental Farm, and all are very well satisfied with the way they were treated by Mr. Hutton and his staff.

Sunday, July 4th, patriotic service will be held by the Sunday school.

RED CROSS NOTES.

At the general meeting of the Red Cross Society on Friday last it was decided to send $75 to the Society in Calgary, $50 of this to be used for the upkeep of the two beds donated by Lacombe to the Canadian Hospital at Clive, England, and $25 for medical supplies.

A fifth bale containing 20 cotton nightshirts, 49 surgical shirts, 45 pairs hand knitted socks, 2 pairs pyjamas, 2 coats for pyjamas, 2 flannel top shirts, 1 dozen soldier's handkerchiefs, 1 bundle mouth wipers, 1 bundle old linen, was shipped to Calgary today.

The members of the Red Cross heard with regret that Mrs. Thorne had resigned from the leadership of the girls' branch. It is to be hoped that she will reconsider this decision.

The ladies interested in knitting for the Red Cross will please meet at the home of Mrs. Urquhart on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

There will be a meeting of the members of the Red Cross on Friday evening next in the Presbyterian Church, at 7.30 to discuss ways and means of serving refreshments at the excursion to the Experimental Farm in July. A special effort is being made to raise some money for hospital supplies for our Canadian soldiers, and we hope all will do their utmost to help in every way possible.

An Appeal to the Alberta Odd Fellows

We take the following letter from "The Odd Fellow," the official organ of this society in Alberta:

To The Oddfellows of Alberta:

Brothers:

The paramount question in the minds of the citizens of Alberta today is, "What is my duty regarding the Liquor Act of the Province of Alberta?" Many organizations, fraternal and otherwise, are voicing their sentiment upon this vital question, and the institution of Odd Fellowship, whose fundamental principles are Friendship, Love and Truth, would be exceedingly remiss in its duty and obligation if it failed to boldly assert its favorable attitude on this great moral issue.

Odd Fellowship stands squarely opposed to the baneful influences of the liquor traffic. The constitution of the Order definitely states that "no hotelkeeper, licensed to sell intoxicating liquors, saloonkeeper or bartender is eligible for membership in this Order." Many instances could be recorded where members of the Order who persist in violating the principles of Odd Fellowship by indulging too freely in intoxicants have been expelled.

It is generally admitted that the licensed bar has not proven itself to be a truly human benefactor, but rather the opposite, and since Odd Fellowship was against vice in all its forms, seeking to improve and elevate the whole character of man, to imbue him with a proper conception of his capabilities for good, to enlighten his mind and enlarge the sphere of his affections, it is our duty and obligation as Odd Fellows to exercise every fair means at our command to free our Province from its greatest curse and, to my mind, this can be effectively accomplished by casting our ballots in favor of "The Liquor Act" on July 21st next.

While Odd Fellowship is not a reformatory, it is, or ought to be, a centre of vital spiritual and uplifting power. It exists not only for the benevolent protection of the widow and orphan, but, more important still, to remove the causes of their woe and need.

Many reasons might be stated why we, as Alberta Odd Fellows, should favor the passing of the above Act, but space will permit of only the following:

The first reason why the licensed bar ought to be abolished—and it will be if "The Liquor Act" becomes operative—is that nothing worse can take its place.

It is stated by the opponents of this Act that if the legalized licensed bar is closed "Blind Tigers" would come in their places. Court records, however, will show that, so far as the City of Edmonton is concerned, more penalties have been imposed upon persons illegally selling intoxicants than all other violations of the License Act combined. And this, under the present license system. But even admitting that "Blind Tigers" would spring up, there are many reasons why they are not as bad as open bars. (a) They do not sell as much liquor. They cannot advertise and they have to sell under great disadvantages. If this were not a fact, brewers, wholesale dealers and hotelkeepers would not be spending their money so freely to defeat the Liquor Act. We frequently hear from the advocates of the liquor traffic that prohibition does not prohibit, oftentimes asserting that more liquor is sold in prohibited territory than in places under license. Now, however, comes the Hoster-Columbus Brewing Company, a $12,000,000 corporation, which has gone into the hands of receivers. It states the cause of its failure when it says, "Because of adverse legislation the sale of our products in Ohio and other states has been curtailed that the earnings of the company have not been sufficient during the last six months to equal the bond interest and sinking fund. The loss of the business of the state of West Virginia, where the state-wide prohibition law went into effect on July 1st, 1914, was the last straw."

The liquor dealers of this Province are now admitting that with the passing of The Liquor Act, Alberta would have a prohibitory measure, as evidenced by the following extracts from a letter sent by the liquor interests to a wholesale house when pleading for financial support:

"Dear Sir,—I have been instructed by the special defence committee of the above association to solicit your financial assistance in our forthcoming fight against total prohibition in Alberta. We therefore ask your financial support in this life and death struggle of the trade in this Province."

If we allow the temperance party to break into this end of the Dominion it just means that the trade west of the Great Lakes will ultimately be wiped out."

(b) To license an evil is to prostitute public morals. It is better to outlaw an evil that you cannot absolutely suppress than to prostitute the public conscience by legalizing it. The Provincial law prohibits murder but cannot suppress it. Shall it, therefore, because its prohibition is a failure, adopt the license idea, and legalize murder? The law prohibits burglary, but it fails to stop it. Shall it, therefore, license burglary? There is a great historic illustration to be drawn here. The Mohammedan religion permits polygamy. They boast that they know almost nothing of the prostitution which so blots our Christian civilization. What do we answer? We cannot deny the shocking disgrace of thousands of fallen women, and worse, fallen men; but we say it is better to prohibit the evil which we cannot entirely suppress than to legalize it and convert our homes into bawdy houses by polygamous marriages. Are we right? Since men are vile, would it be better to license the evil and let every home be turned into a brothel than to prohibit the evil and have it so fail to be suppressed? This is the license argument on the marriage question. "No, we are Christians and not Mohammedans, and we insist that it is better to prohibit an evil that you cannot suppress than to prostitute the public conscience by licensing it. The present license system is the greatest evil in our civilization, and to prohibit it is better than to degrade the public conscience by legalizing it."

Another reason why we, as Odd Fellows, should support Provincial Prohibition is because of the enormous waste which the liquor traffic is directly responsible for. A conservative estimate of the cost of the liquor traffic to the Dominion in one year is $180,000,000, and the Province of Alberta alone, $12,000,000. In addition to this, we have the cost of courts in prosecuting crime caused by the traffic and the loss of earnings by men incapacitated by drink. Think of the thousands of hard-earned dollars spent for liquor by men in this city. Every dollar spent for drink is worse than a dead loss to human society. Every useful trade suffers from it. The licensed liquor traffic is the heaviest tax ever borne by any people, and but for the fact that we are a young nation, full of resources, we could scarcely stand this drain. There is an insistent demand, and rightly so, that we conserve our natural resources, but let us not forget that the boys of this Province are our greatest asset, and these should receive our first consideration. The liquor traffic converts our boys into drunks, breaks up homes, wrecks human lives everywhere it touches them. The loss of human lives in actual death, in wreck of character, and loss of happiness due to the liquor business is something frightful. Odd Fellowship stands to assist in plugging up this leak in our ship of state by their ballots on July 21st next.

One other very important reason why we should eliminate the liquor traffic is that it would be a blessing to those now engaged in the business. Necessity would demand that many of them would engage in some useful business and become useful members of society. They would then be eligible for membership in our beloved Order. We can best exemplify our real Friendship, Love and Truth to those engaged in the "trade" by supporting "The Liquor Act" and thus removing from our Province the present liquor license system which carries with it such stigma and reproach.

The principles of Odd Fellowship are those of religion and humanity; its object is to promote the general good of mankind and to spread abroad the light of morality and fraternalism, we seek but—"To meditate the sorrows of mankind, Relieve the poor, the sick, the maimed, the blind, Lift up the drooping heart, the widow cheer, And wipe away the helpless orphan's tear. To form of men one common Brotherhood, Linked only in the bonds of doing good."

Brothers, on July 21st, 1915, an opportunity will be given us in this Province to really exemplify our principles and obligations. Let every brother do his duty.

As to 'Blind Pigs'

To what extent has license eliminated the "blind pig" in Alberta? In 1914 there were 475 convictions of non-licensees for illicit sales of liquor within the province. Each one of these represents a "blind pig." During the same period 285 retail licenses were issued. That is to say, for every hotel bar in operation, there were 1.57 "blind pigs." Does this look as though license had succeeded in eliminating illicit sales?

For Prohibition

To the Editor:

In extending my most hearty appreciation of the stand you are taking in connection with the proposed Liquor Act, may I be permitted to add a few remarks. All reforms must of necessity be of a slow but sure growth, the progress made depending entirely upon the enlightenment and education of the populace concerned. Ignorance is today and has always been the great obstacle in promoting the welfare of the human race and the opposition has always depended to a large extent on the support of the more or less illiterate classes. This feature, strangely enough, only serves to indicate the credulity of ignorance; hence the fact that reform measures are largely opposed by those whom said measures would most benefit.

However, it appears to me that prohibition is a question which does not require any high standard of knowledge in order to discover the increased general prosperity which must naturally follow in its wake. Surely the people of Alberta are not so blind to their own interests as to allow the liquor manufacturers and vendors to still impose upon them with all manner of unfounded arguments in support of their business.

What is the first thought which enters one's mind on hearing of an accident or some tragic event? It is this: "Was he drunk?" or "I suppose he was drunk." But it does not require any calamity to happen to realize the truth of the words written centuries ago—"O foolish man, that putteth wine into your mouth to steal away your brains."

It is certain that the thoughtful man, the man who is considerate for the welfare of his fellow men and the interests of his own domestic circle, will vote but one way—for prohibition.

To say that prohibition does not prohibit is perhaps the weakest of all the liquor interests' arguments. Put it this way.

In our homes we place a fender around our hearths to protect infants from the danger of hurt or injury by fire. That precaution does not prevent the child receiving the warmth necessary to its comfort, but it does prevent any possibility of harm.

In other words, we prohibit the child from harming itself through ignorance of the danger of fire.

Applied to men, liquor is usually as dangerous and destructive as fire when uncontrolled, and the Liquor Act will supply the needed controlling force. Do not forget that we are all children in one or more respects, and also that we are frequently our own worst enemy.

In these strenuous days when increased efficiency is demanded in all walks of life, who is likely to possess the necessary qualifications? The answer is—the temperate man.

Does not the ever widening sphere of prohibition prove conclusively the benefits prohibition confers upon a community?

With such indisputable evidence before us we can prove to the world at large our good sense by the passage of the Liquor Act with an unprecedented majority. It remains up to us to make the effort.

Apologizing for thus encroaching upon your time and space, I am, very truly yours,
"UT PROSIM."

Will Keep Up Hotel Standard

Humboldt, Sask., June 26.—The tenth annual convention of the Union of Saskatchewan municipalities met Wednesday afternoon here with sixty delegates present. In the absence of Lieut.-Governor Brown, H. C. Pope, of Moose Jaw, opened the convention in a short but pithy address. The evening session was very largely attended. Two papers, one on the municipal obligation re hotel accommodation by G. F. Blair, city solicitor of Regina, and the other on what the Canadian Patriotic Fund is and what it is doing, by T. M. Bee.

Mr. Blair's paper dealing with the hotels naturally created very much interest.

He pointed out that whatever hopes are retained by the liquor people of a return to the conditions that now exist are based on the belief that the hotel accommodation will be so poor that the people will only be too glad to return to the present conditions. He stated that there is too much reason to believe that there is the ground for this belief on the part of the liquor parties if the solution of the problem is left in the hands of private individuals. He therefore emphasized very strongly that the provincial and municipal bodies should see that a guarantee will be given so that hotel accommodation of the future will at least be as good if not much better than at present. The liquor interests should be made to realize through the province and the organized municipalities working together that this province is determined to provide a hotel system second to none on the continent. This would then entirely break their opposition, with the result that the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage will very soon pass, making the need of government dispensaries unnecessary.

TURKS LOSE 143,000 IN THE GALLI POLI CAMPAIGN

Mitylene, via Athens, June 25.—Fierce fighting has been in progress on Gallipoli Peninsula since Tuesday, the allied troops successfully assaulting the Turkish positions and taking several trenches.

The second French division is now taking part in the conflict. Reports from the allies' field headquarters estimate the Turkish losses in killed, wounded and prisoners since the fighting began on the peninsula at 143,000.

In 1914—last year—475 "blind pigs" were in operation in Alberta!—almost double the number of the licensed bars.

The Vacant Rank

The following stirring recruiting poem was written in the trenches by George Blackstone Field, Corporal First Field Company, Canadian Engineers. On the road to Tipperary.

There's a place that's vacant still,
There's a rifle lying silent,
There's a uniform to fill.
True, at home they'll hate to lose you,
But the march will soon begin,
On the road to Tipperary,
With the Army to Berlin.

In the Morris chairs of Clubland
Are you there content to stay?
While the others guard your honor,
While the Germans boast "the day."
For your King and country need you,
And we want to count you in,
On the road to Tipperary,
With the army to Berlin.

Have you seen the lonely cross on a hill?
Boys who'll never come back home,
Will you idle while they're calling,
Will you leave them there alone?
For they're calling, calling, calling,
And they want to hear you sing,
On the road to Tipperary,
With the Army to Berlin.

When from Mons they fought each footstep,
When their lips with pain were dumb,
'Twas the hope that held the trenches,
Never doubting you would come.
Through the frozen hell of winter
'Midst the shrapnel's shocking din,
They have waited, never fearing,
You would join them to Berlin.

On the road to Tipperary,
There's a crimson debt to pay,
There's a land of awful darkness,
Patient faces, tired and grey.
Sobbing women, ruined girlhood,
Strew the track of cultured sin,
Can't you hear them call for vengeance,
Won't you join us to Berlin?

On the road to Tipperary,
Sleep those boys whose day is done,
Don't you hear the voices calling
To complete the work begun?
There are ghostly fingers beck'ning,
There are Vict'ria's yet to win,
On the road to Tipperary,
With the Army to Berlin.

On the road to Tipperary,
When the boys come home at last,
Won't you wish that you had listened
Ere Old England's call had passed?
But the legate of manhood's open,
You, your bit can still begin
On the road to Tipperary,
With the Army to Berlin.

Thousands Will Flock to Canada After the War

There should be a big immigration of British soldiers to Canada after the war to take up land, declared Dr. G. A. Anderson, who, with Mrs. Anderson, returned to Calgary this week after an absence of two years, the greater part of which was spent in England and Scotland.

Dr. Anderson's time was devoted to the prosecution of post graduate studies in some of the noted medical institutions and hospitals of Great Britain.

"Thousands of the newly created soldiers who had previous to recruiting spent their lives in secondary occupations, will be unwilling to go back to their office stools, and behind the counter, but will prefer an open-air life," said Dr. Anderson, "hence the possibility of a large immigration to this country."

Living in London for a whole year prior to the outbreak of the war, he had a unique opportunity of observing conditions as they existed in Britain during one of the most critical periods in its history.

"London itself was never so stirred as on the day that war was declared against Germany," said Dr. Anderson. "I have never seen the British so enthusiastic. The feeling existed, however, that the war would be over in six weeks, the general populace fully expecting a final clash between the German and British fleets to settle the matter. They were supremely confident. While they know now that they were a little too optimistic, they are still as full of confidence as ever of ultimate victory. It took the general rank and file, however, several months to wake up to the real condition of affairs."

"London," said Dr. Anderson, "never took the threatened Zeppelin raids seriously, although the authorities took all possible precautions, darkening the city at night until it looked like a rural community from above, mounting anti-aircraft at prominent points, burying art treasures in cellars, sand and asbestos, and covering important buildings with sandbags and wire protections. Buckingham Palace was treated in this way."

Dr. Anderson declares that the Canadians have won their way right into the hearts of the British. They had done that, he said, even before they fired the first shot in the war, and covered themselves with glory. The spontaneous way in which the people and government came forward with gifts of produce of all kinds, even though it was not actually needed, showed what they were prepared to do. Canadian praises were on everyone's lips.

"When the war came Great Britain was facing a crisis," said Dr. Anderson, "which the new danger only just averted in time."

"It was confronted with three great problems—the Irish question, the woman's suffrage question, and the labor question, and the greatest of these three was labor. Conditions were so acute that revolution was impending through labor discontent. Civil strife could hardly have been averted in Ireland. The woman's suffrage agitation had long ceased to be a joke. Britain trembled on the verge."

"The war united the nation, turned the imported guns of Ulster upon the very Germans who supplied them solidified the labor people to a great extent, and stifled the woman's suffrage agitation."

"But even then they have not seen the last of these things," said the doctor. "From what I have seen of Ulster, and I have been right among the people there, they will never stand for Home Rule that includes that county. Symptoms of the labor discontent are even still creeping out, despite the war, when all Britain should be united."

"Although the Unionists and upper classes hated Lloyd George, he was the man before the war who stood between the labor people. His radical measures served to satisfy the labor people to some extent."

"Today Lloyd George, from being the most hated man in Britain has become the most admired. His sheer ability and energy have won the regard of his enemies, and it is doubtful if anyone is more trusted."

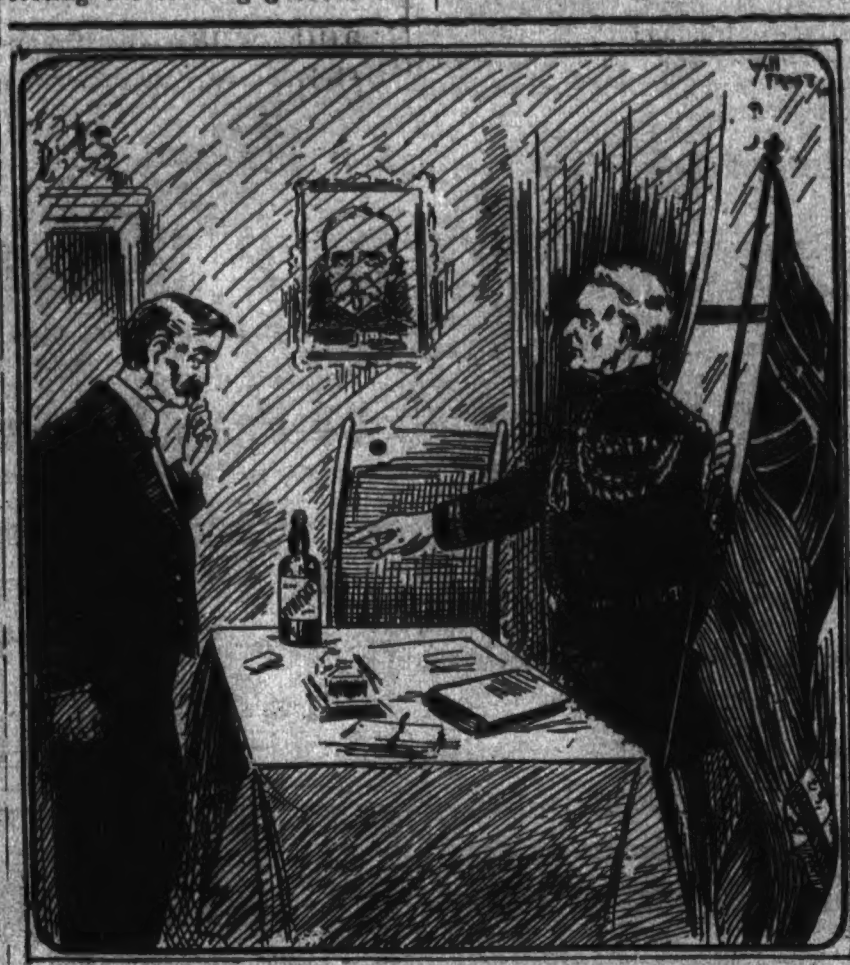

"Churchill became the idol of the people when he made the coup that had the navy ready at the psychological moment. If he had recognized his limitations and had left the practical operation of the navy to Baron Fisher, he would never have fallen from grace. However, he chose otherwise."

Dr. Anderson saw the last famous review of the British fleet, extending 40 miles long at Portsmouth, before it put out under sealed orders to bottle up the German fleet.

He also saw Lieutenant Stanley Jones in London, dining with him and Mrs. Stanley Jones, and Major and Mrs. J. McKinney, of Calgary, at London, in April. Lieut. Jones was then getting over the injury to his hand. Major McKinney, also attached to the Princess Pats, was recovering from a severe illness contracted in the trenches, and looking forward to returning to the front.

Dr. and Mrs. Anderson left Liverpool on the C.P.R. steamer Metagama, since commandeered as a transport for Canadian troops. Although assured by the C.P.R. agent that the mail steamers were well protected by the admiralty, they saw nothing of any protecting warships while crossing the war zone, two weeks before the Lusitania was sunk. The Metagama did some queer maneuvering, cutting figure eights before she got out of the war zone, but no submarines were sighted, and the explanation of the officers was that they were testing the steering gear.

INSTANTLY KILLED AT COOKING LAKE.

Edmonton, June 25.—Tom C. MacQuarrie, aged 22, a sorter in the Edmonton post office, was shot accidentally and instantly killed at Cooking Lake yesterday evening at six o'clock.

With a friend, W. Schroeter, from the general delivery department, MacQuarrie was spending some holidays at the lake. Although details of the fatality were lacking last night, it appears that MacQuarrie and Schroeter were just getting in from a boat ride. In the bottom of the rowboat MacQuarrie had a shotgun. He was loaded and cocked. MacQuarrie leaned over and pulled the gun toward him, gripping it by the barrel. The trigger caught in some projection in the bottom of the boat and the charge was exploded. The entire charge struck the young man in the stomach and he was killed instantly.

PRESERVING EGGS ON THE FARM.

The comparatively low prices of eggs at this season of the year, and the high prices prevailing in the winter months, makes room for the use of some form or preservative whereby the farmer's wife may preserve some cooking eggs for winter use and thus be able to sell her fresh winter eggs at a good price. On a commercial scale this carrying over of eggs from one season to another is made possible by a system of cold storage, but this is impractical on the farm.

Many methods of preservation have been tried, and thus far our best authorities are not absolutely unanimous on the question of which is the one best method. The division is perhaps between the water glass mixture and the lime water solution. The selection of either of these will be governed largely by individual circumstances. These mixtures are made as follows:

Water glass (soluble silicate of sodium) is a pale yellow, odorless, syrupy liquid. It may be obtained from most druggists at from 60 to 90 cents a gallon. For use, stir 1 part of water glass by measure into 11 parts of boiled water, either hot or cold. If mixed hot, allow the mixture to cool before using.

For the lime water mixture, slake three pounds of good quicklime in a small amount of water, then add the milk-lime thus formed to 3 gallons of water. Keep the mixture well stirred for a day, then allow the excess of lime to settle and use only the clear liquid.

Only clean, fresh eggs with a firm shell should be put in store. Only earthenware, glass or wooden vessels should be used, and they should be thoroughly cleaned. The eggs should be placed carefully in the vessels, small end down, and the solution poured on them. At least two inches of the liquid should cover the eggs in the vessel.

The cost of the lime water solution is little or nothing outside of the work of preparation. In this country it has been found that the water glass mixture costs approximately 3 cents per dozen of eggs. Of course the cost is lessened as the number of eggs is increased. For instance, a dozen of eggs might require a half gallon of the mixture, while 12 dozen might require only 4 or 5 gallons. This form of preparation is more practicable for large quantities of eggs.

Carthage is a land of business organization, and since the days of the semi-piratical Hanseatic League has been a specialist in a none too scrupulous foreign commerce. "Business first" is the watchword of Germany, as it was of Carthage. Neither state is distinguished as particularly inventive or original, except perhaps in industrial chemistry—the famous Tyrian purple being an early counterpart of aniline dyes—and in the paths of philosophy and music in Germany's case, these, however, being apparently legacies from the influence of the Romans who founded Vienna, Cologne, Mayence, and other cities. Like the Carthaginian, the German is lacking in the artistic instinct. The calculated cruelties practised at times by the Carthaginian state remind us of the policy of "Schrecklichkeit" of the apostles of "deutsche Kultur." The mean revengefulness which was exemplified in the torture of Regulus, the feminine fury of Carthaginian malignity—e.g., the swearing of the youthful Hannibal to everlasting hate of Rome—and that "Punica fides" which became a by-word in the Eternal City for treachery and perjury, are all suggestive of the nation that cynically violated the Belgian neutrality treaty and the Hague conventions, outraged Belgium and Poland with hideously scientific barbarism, and raves in hydrophobic hatred of Britain. It is true, as the Advertiser remarks, that Carthage, on the whole, was much more humane than Germany; it would be indecent to suggest even a remote likeness between Hannibal and the German general staff, and Carthage was a plutocratic republic, not a stratocratic empire ruled by divine right. But in general the parallel is very perfect; as perfect, almost, as any parallel drawn from history can be.

Great Britain, on the other hand, has often been appropriately compared to Rome. In their splendid calm, staidness and self-control, their habit of justice and compromise, their temperate democracy and respect for law, their capacity for self-government and ruling alien populations satisfactorily, their innate moral strictness, their avoidance of purely commercial ethics, their love of "panem et circenses," the British strikingly resemble the countrymen of Caesar, Virgil, Tacitus and Cato. Alike they are deficient in artistic impulse and skill, though less so than the Carthaginian and the German. Alike they have risen on occasion to a sublimity of patriotism, in days of danger to the country, not to be matched in mercenary Carthage or conscript Germany. Britain, like Rome, has made her overseas dominions proud of her, whether as their mother or as their mistress; had they never won empire, men would have said of both that they were worthy of empire.

Of late years, comments the London Advertiser, in a suggestive article, there have been certain retrospective folks, principally hailing from between the Rhine and the Vistula, who have fervently drawn a parallel between the classic rivalry of Rome and Carthage and Britain and Germany today. The Carthage of Hamilcar and Hannibal—Carthage the rich, the luxurious, the corrupt, the commercial, the shekel-minded, the employer of a mercenary army, the mighty naval power that commanded the empire of the sea—Carthage they point to as the classic prototype of Britain. Against this is set up the Rome of Dufkhus and Scipio—still a land of simple living and austere manners, with a conscript army, making beginnings of commerce and a navy, but still a state self-supported by its agriculture—as the classical prototype of Germany. Thence they hasten to the moral. Carthage was destroyed by Rome, like Troy by the Hellenes, never to rise again. Ergo, Great Britain is doomed to fall before the waxing crescent of Germany.

Spruceville News

The Rev. J. T. Brainbridge will give a sermon on "Prohibition" on Sunday afternoon at Spruceville. An opportunity will be given to ask questions in regard to the Liquor Act.

Commencing Sunday, July 4, at 7.30 p.m., Methodist preaching services will be held at Gull Lake in the assembly hall.

During the months of July and August the Presbyterians and Methodists will unite their preaching services. Services for July will be held in the Presbyterian church and in the Methodist church during the month of August.

Don't forget the monster celebration at Lacombe July 12th. The meeting to promote Prohibition held in the U.F.A. Hall on Friday night was not very well attended on account of the wet weather and the roads being in such a muddy state. Mrs. McKimney is a very able speaker and was well worth hearing. The

Rimby News

Arrangements have been made to hold a meeting on Wednesday next, July 7th, in the Town Hall at which the Rev. J. J. Milton, of Ponoka, and H. Arthur Barton, the well-known lecturer, will speak on the proposed Liquor Act. It is expected that a large crowd will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing the merits of this important bill discussed by men so competent to deal with the subject.

Owing to the constant rains the celebration advertised for June 28th has been postponed to take place on Tuesday, July 20. The extra time afforded will enable the several committees to further develop their work and thus make the day a greater attraction than ever. Given good roads and weather, a great day is expected. Further particulars will be announced later.

Mr. and Mrs. Putland, of Bentley, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Brooks. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Townsend returned to Calgary Friday after a fortnight spent here with her sister, Mrs. S. N. Rimby. Mr. Vliet is beginning the erection of a new house.

Rev. Barton, who is spending a fortnight with Mr. Brooks, conducted services at the Methodist church Sunday night. Rev. Dougan will have charge next Sunday.

There are two tractor plow outfits operating in this community. One, a steam outfit drawing eight plows, run by Philip Beckler, at present breaking for Fred Schroder. The other, a gasoline tractor, owned by Perry Bunch, is breaking for Mr. Appleby.

The Methodist Sunday school will hold a picnic on July 10th.

GETTING THEIR FRIENDS ON THE LIST.

Lethbridge, June 22.—Ninety Chinamen have made application for naturalization before the judge this week, their names being presented by the organizer for the Licensed Victuallers' Association. These Chinamen will all have a vote on the Liquor Act on July 21.

SUBMARINE EXPLODED.

London, June 27.—Reuter's dispatch from Amsterdam says word has been received there that a German submarine which left Emden for the North Sea sank last Tuesday near the Island of Borkum, after a severe explosion, the cause of which is not known. The message giving this report says that the officer in command and two members of the crew who were in the turret were thought to have been saved; the remainder of the crew were drowned.

How To Mark the Ballot

The following is the form that the ballot will probably take. Every supporter of the temperance forces should mark an (X) in the square before the word "Yes." See that the ballot is marked right.

Spruceville is well represented in the Lacombe Home Guard. We were pleased to see Mr. Chas. Braithwaite elected as "major general." He appears to be quite at home handling a bunch of "raw recruits."

For the benefit of people who keep asking what that thing is pasturing in a field alongside of the road, we would say that it is intended to be a "horse" some day, and it is no relation to a giraffe, of a sheep or anything else but "horse."

J. J. Kashia is evidently anticipating the passage of the prohibition act, as he has installed a new mail box which will hold a "pony keg" or about three gallon jugs.

Crops are looking very well around here, but we have had enough rain.

If the government is going to keep the Gull Lake road in order there is a fine chance at present to do some badly needed fixing up. Another day's rain would make it impassable for cars.

Daniel's Four Wild Beasts

Synopsis of Prof. P. P. Adams' Bible lecture on the above subject:

This is a momentous subject and has to deal with present-day affairs. The Bible ever contains the newest news—newer even than the daily newspapers. When we see how prophecy is being fulfilled—prophecy that was given 2,500 years previous—it should inspire us with confidence in the Bible and in the Saviour of mankind.

Daniel 7 is another great line of prophecy. The five prominent characteristics of this chapter are the lion, the bear, leopard and the nondescript beast, following which comes the setting up of the Kingdom of God.

Daniel was an inhabitant of Palestine, though at the time of this prophecy he was in Babylon, so in all probability the sea that he refers to as the great sea was the Mediterranean.

What does the sea represent in symbolical prophecy? Let the Bible explain itself. Rev. 17:15, says: "The waters which thou sawest are peoples and multitudes and nations and tongues." Again we ask, "What do the winds represent?" Jer. 49:36, 37 contains the answer. We see by the 17th verse that the four beasts represent four kingdoms. What has been the cause of the rise and fall of kingdoms? We answer—great wars. Almost without an exception great nations are born as a result of great battles.

In the second chapter four great universal kingdoms are brought to view. The first beast represents Babylon. If there are just four great universal kingdoms in the world (and in the second chapter the image represents four great kingdoms, and in the seventh chapter the four beasts represent kingdoms), then the visions must be identical. They are much like Pharaoh's two dreams—both pointing to the same thing.

God has given the history of the world in various ways. Some have found as many as fourteen distinct lines of prophecy.

In Heb. 1:6, a lion with eagle's wings represents Babylon in the height of its glory. In verse 4 a change of condition is seen; Babylon in the hands of Belshazzar was a weak, timorous country.

In verse 5, the bear represents Medo-Persia, and as it raised itself upon one side, so the Persian side of the empire gained ascendancy. Cyrus' successors were Persians. The three gobs in the mouth of the bear, being part of a kingdom or provinces, and it is a matter of history that the three kingdoms of Babylon, Lydia and Egypt were submerged into the Medo-Persian empire.

In verse 6 the leopard is brought to view. Two wings were not enough to denote the rapidity of its conquest. This beast represents the kingdom of Grecia, and the swiftness of conquest denoted by the four wings is shown in the career of Alexander the Great. During eight short years he traversed 5,000 miles of country with his army and conquered the then known world. He overthrew Darius at the battle of Arbela in 331 B.C., and from there advanced eastward, conquering as he went. Re-turning he decided to make Babylon his capital, but died in a drunken debauch in the 32nd year of his life.

The four heads denote the division of the kingdoms to four generals. Verse 7 shows the nondescript beast, and successive verses describe its work, nature and activity. The ten horns denote ten kingdoms, into which the great kingdoms was divided, and the little horn, which uprooted three other horns, had eyes like a man and a mouth speaking great things, is symbolical of another kingdom arising in the place of the three other kingdoms.

Rome overran the then known world. Beginning in a small way, its conquests extended over all Italy, Carthage, and finally all the world. Rome was divided into ten kingdoms. Barbarians from the north invaded the empire, and the various nations of Allemanni, Visigoths, Ostrogoths, Franks, Suevia, Burgundians, Lombards, Vandals, Anglo-Saxons, and Heruli were set up.

Verse 9 introduces a heavenly vision, and continuing in the chapter we find the utter destruction of the last beast and the end of time. In the 13th verse Christ's kingdom is described. As a man does not understand all the details of plant life and seed germination, so we cannot understand all the details connected with the setting up of the kingdom, but we must let the plain, simple truth suffice, as it is given in the 18th verse.

May God help us to be numbered with the saints who shall possess the kingdom. How shall we make sure of the kingdom? By making Him our own personal individual Saviour now.

Extract from the lecture given by J. K. Fish Saturday night, June 19:

Subject—"Will the Second Coming of Christ be Personal and Visible to all?"

A great deal has been said on this subject—more than on any other, and it is one of interest to all. Many ideas have been advanced regarding it. Some say the Saviour comes at death, others say His coming is invisible, while others claim He has already come, and some advocate that He is coming soon, but in an indefinite way. But let us deal tonight from a Bible standpoint.

If we take away the second coming of Christ from the Bible there is no hope for anyone. It is the climax of the world's history. In John 14:1 is given the promise of His return in the same way in which He went into Heaven. When did He go and in what manner? Acts 1 answers the question for us. Here is depicted the manner of His ascent. Get the picture of the disciples standing there on the mount and while Jesus was yet speaking a cloud received Him out of their sight. He ascended to Heaven in a bodily form, and the Word says He will come again in the same way. Luke 24:36 assures us that after His resurrection He had both flesh and bones, and in this condition He ascended to Heaven.

In Rev. 1:7 is further pictured the manner of His coming. "Behold He cometh with clouds and every eye shall see Him, and they also which pierced Him." Many of the different apostles have written of the manner of His coming, and Christ himself prophesied of it. Matthew 24:25, 26, shows that it is impossible for Him to come to any one place, for everyone shall see him. The whole world will know, for Luke 21:27 says, "and then shall they see the Son of Man coming in a cloud with power and great glory." Other references bearing on this same subject are—Matt. 26:62; Luke 9:26, and Matt. 24:30. None can realize the power and magnitude of the glory of Christ. When we consider the brightness and glory of that one angel that came to the Roman guard as they surrounded the Saviour's tomb, and then consider the glory and brightness of His innumerable company of angels that accompanies Him to this earth, we are lost in awe and wonder at the majesty of our King. His coming will be the climax of all earthly events. All earthly history will focus on the second coming of Christ. The hope of ages has centered in God and in a future life. Even the patriarchs looked forward to this event as the culmination of all things. Job, in the 19th chapter and 25th verse, comforts himself with the knowledge that he would see God. The Psalmist also speaks of it. Jude 14 says Enoch, the seventh from Adam, prophesied of His coming. The Apostle Paul's hope centered in Christ's second coming.

But there is another side to the picture, for some will not be ready to meet Him and shall be destroyed. 2 Thess. 2:8, "Then shall that wicked be revealed whom the Lord shall consume with His breath." Jer. 25:33 shows the conditions of the wicked when Christ comes again. Isaiah says the earth will be dissolved and will never rise again. But we are glad to live and to gain the knowledge of Christ and to prepare to meet Him when He comes.

The Apostle Peter assures us that the Lord is not slack concerning His promise as some men count slackness, but is long suffering to usward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance.

To those who are not looking for Him He comes as a thief in the night, but "unto them that look for Him shall He appear the second time without sin unto salvation."—Heb. 9:28.

He gave Himself for us—for you and for me; the hand of salvation He extends fully to all; that same hand that was pierced with the nails on the cross. It was necessary for Him to die for us, as Isaiah says He was bruised for our iniquities and by His stripes we are healed.

The question is often asked: "Will we know Him When He Comes?" Yes; if we become acquainted with Him here on this earth we shall surely know Him when He comes. Now is the time to make the ties that bind us to His great heart of love and form the everlasting friendship.

We should ask the question, "how will it fare with me when that day comes?" 2 Thess. 1:7, contains an invitation to accept of Him and obey the teachings of the Gospel of God. When that day comes then it will be too late to make restitution; our destinies will be sealed. Then other ideas will be shaken from their foundations, for the only coming of Christ that is spoken of in the Word will be in the manner described here tonight.

LLOYD GEORGE'S SPEECH AROUSES BRITISH NATION

London, June 24.—Lloyd George's sombre speech has fully aroused the nation to the real gravity of the situation. The people ridiculed the early warnings as newspaper sensations. Lloyd George confirms the worst statements concerning our failure in heavy guns, machine guns, rifles and lack of ammunition. He abandoned finally the policy of keeping the nation in the dark over unfavorable facts familiar to the enemy and every neutral. This policy has been carried to absurd lengths and has done infinite harm in weakening national confidence. The speech was the most formidable indictment of old methods ever uttered. The armament funds, he declared, had proved unequal to the gigantic task and subcontracting had been a failure.

A speech such as yesterday's makes history and must profoundly affect some great reputations. It indicates a policy which will restore national trust and stimulate to the utmost national energy. The acknowledgement of failure is the first step toward success. Britain proudly rejoices in the fact that it has proved splendid beyond words.

"Evidently a great wind has been blowing through the official chambers of Whitehall," says the Daily Telegraph. "First-class business men with local knowledge are to take over control from departmental officials overwhelmed with work, yet loath to part with a scrap of authority. Already the results are visible."

The newspapers unite in supporting Lloyd George, even the Daily News admitting that the war office broke down under a strain altogether beyond its capacity, and warns the people with its new policy.

"Lloyd George tells a melancholy story of unpreparedness and failure up to date," says the Morning Post. "There is no need to distribute the blame, but we must amend in the future, for the position is now very serious."

"The enemy will not be encouraged by open recognition of the position here," says the Times, "but the contrary, for recognition is the first step towards making good the deficiency. It was concealment and a fatuous attempt to pretend that no deficiency existed that encouraged the enemy. Thanks to Lloyd George, there is an end to that nonsense."

One result of the recent revelations is the marked change in the general attitude towards Lord Northcliffe. For three weeks he was the most unpopular man in England. His papers, lost the circulation of hundreds of thousands of copies daily. He was threatened with personal violence—particularly by racing men—who blamed him for stopping racing. Many advertisers withdrew from his journals. His attitude must have cost him scores of thousands of pounds. Many who yesterday burned his papers, while still disliking his method of protest by his personal attack upon Kitchener, admit his essential facts are right.

Sir Arthur Markham voiced this feeling in the commons yesterday. He said: "Earl Kitchener treats the people of this country as he would the Egyptian fellahs. Nothing is to be gained by concealing the truth. What the Harmsworth press said, they said in a manner which did not commend itself to the country, owing to the personal abuse of Earl Kitchener, which was absolutely true, yet we have the stock exchange seriously in assembly burning these two papers, The Times and The Mail."

London, June 24.—The enrollment of war munitions volunteers is engaging more attention for the time being than the enlistment of recruits for the army. It is a striking proof of how David Lloyd George, the minister of munitions, has succeeded in awakening the country to the paramount necessity of concentrating on the production of shells and other war materials.

Tonight the munitions works bureaus were opened in nearly 200 towns, also in various parts of the country, of which 53 are in London alone, and in a large number of office buildings to give British workmen an opportunity to get into the factory line and supply the firing line.

According to a page advertisement in big type printed in all the important newspapers, these offices were opened in the evening in order that men might enlist for munition work without losing time in their present situations. "Every skilled worker who is ready to go, will be put into his new job within the least possible delay," said P. E. Morgan, a well known business man whom Lloyd George has impressed to help mobilize the army of skilled workmen. "There will be no long period of waiting. The need is too urgent. The loyalty of the British workman is such, we know, that he is prepared to make sacrifices to help his pals on the firing line."

The workman of Great Britain was never before the object of so much consideration. Both on the firing line and in the factory line he is regarded as the saviour of the country.

CREDIT OF FRANCE IS INTACT; NO FINANCIAL EMBARRASSMENT.

Paris, June 25.—Alexandre Ribot, French minister of finance, in a speech in the chamber of deputies today on the bill appropriating 5,600,000,000 francs ($1,120,000,000) for the three months beginning July 1, said he recognized the necessity of France buying as little abroad for the requirements of war as possible. This plan, he asserted, would be one of the most important economies for the country. It would tend also to facilitate exchange, although up to the present there had not been the least monetary depreciation. French credit was intact, and France felt no embarrassment, notwithstanding all her requirements.

M. Ribot said that in April public subscriptions amounted to 995,000,000 francs ($199,000,000), and that in May the public took 1,007,000,000 francs ($201,400,000) in national defense bonds. The minister of finance, in measured and sober eloquence, said he could affirm once more that the people of France would go to the end, no matter how long the war might last, and that in the midst of her difficulties France had taken a vow which she should keep. The country, he declared, would reject indignantly anyone showing weakness for an instant.

The deputies listened in silence to the statesman, the proceedings being in remarkable contrast to the disordered session of yesterday. The deputies more than once rose to their feet as a mark of respect, applauding the speaker. Premier Viviani exclaimed once upon what he called M. Ribot's magnificent successful effort in behalf of workmen's pensions, and the minister of finance replied: "This is not the hour to recall the stages of my career. I have lived, I have acted, and in ageing I try not to constrict my ideas. Upon finishing his explanation of the bill, M. Ribot was surrounded by his ministerial colleagues and others, many of whom had been his political opponents, all offering congratulations, while the members of the house stood and tendered him an ovation.

GERMAN HERO IS NEW ROLE OF W. J. BRYAN.

New York, June 25.—The biggest pro-German peace meeting that has yet been held in New York City filled the Madison Square Garden to capacity and packed Madison avenue from curb to curb from Twenty-third to Twenty-seventh street last night. There were outside speakers on six stands. Ex-Secretary of State Bryan spoke in the garden. Henry Weismann, head of the United German-American societies of the state of New York, was presiding officer. Other speakers included Congressman Frank Buchanan, of Illinois, member of the house committee on naval affairs; Congressman Henry Vollmer, of Iowa; Dr. Emmanuel Baruch and Jeremiah O'Leary, who has been prominent in all pro-German meetings.

The meeting was orderly, but there was lots of excitement. The outdoor meetings were addressed in German by some of the speakers. In the garden the English language prevailed. George Von Skal opened the meeting with a short speech in which he said a meeting of this sort was necessary to show President Wilson that "real public opinion" was directly contrary to that which he said "the prejudiced press" was trying to force on the people.

The ex-secretary of state said: "I believe it to be my duty to crystallize the peace sentiment until the demand for peace drowns the demand for war. I have never known yet the New York press to take the side of the American public."

For two years and three months I tried as best I could to assist the president in dealing with the most momentous questions that have come before the nation in its history. Never one day has the New York press given me credit. The representatives of foreign powers have whispered words in my ears that might, as I have told them, cause disaster to their countries. Yet because I did not tell reporters about these things, about them I had no right to tell them, they attacked me. I will not surrender a sacred trust into the hands of irresponsible editors."

Among those who occupied boxes in front of the platform were Constantine Dumba, the ambassador from Austria-Hungary, who, it was announced, was unofficially present; Capt. Boy-Ed, the German naval attaché; Capt. Papen, the German military attaché; Alexander Nuber, the Austrian consul-general in this city, and Deljal Bey, the Turkish ambassador. The Tribune described the meeting thus:

"Bryan, in the role of a German hero, wins triumph. Crowded garden hails him as 'Great Interpreter,' and next president."

CHARGED WITH SEDITION.

Inspector Lindsay, of the R.N. W.M.P., held court at Rocky Mountain House when John Reid, the Socialist candidate for the Dominion riding of Red Deer was charged with sedition.

Reid is accused of making most disparaging utterances against the King and the British empire, and the police have been on his trail for some time, and arrested him after a meeting at Eckville. He was committed for trial at the next assizes at Red Deer, and will be held in jail pending trial.

PROMINENT CANADIAN HAS VALUABLE SECRET.

London, June 25.—During the recent Lusitania inquiry Donald Macmaster, for the Canadian government, asked the chairman of the Cunard Company if there was not some means for detecting the presence of a submarine. The chairman replied that he was unaware of such a device. Mr. Macmaster, upon request of Lord Mersey, who was conducting the inquiry, gave in confidence the name of a person prepared to submit such a device. It is understood that the author of this invention is one of the most prominent men in Canada, who does not wish his name at present to be mentioned. The invention is already receiving the admiral's close attention.

NO FEAR OF BRITISH LINE BREAKING IN FLANDERS

London, June 25.—"In Flanders we have made provisions for defense, however great the attack. Our numbers there are adequate for any task and our turn will come." Thus spoke Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade, in an address at West Hartlepool last night.

"We are learning now," Mr. Runciman added, "how to deal with the submarine menace, and it is surer now than when the statement was made in April that we have enough explosives for our own use. We also are overcoming our shortage of ammunition."

IS KILLED WHILE TRYING TO ESCAPE.

Amherst, N.S., June 25.—During an outbreak early yesterday morning at the alien enemy internment camp near Amherst, one of the prisoners, Fritz Clause, a German, was shot dead and four others, also said to be Germans, were seriously wounded. A rumor was abroad during the day that the shooting occurred while a squad of German prisoners attempted to escape. Few details are obtainable. All that can be learned are contained in the following version obtained from a competent source:

"While the prisoners of war in the detention camp were being conducted to the compound for physical exercise, one of them, Fritz Clause, assaulted one of the internment police, knocking him insensible. The camp police with the guard was called out to quell the mutiny, and in the meantime the originator of the trouble was shot dead and four of the other prisoners were seriously wounded."

There are about 500 prisoners in the camp, including more than a half hundred German sailors who were rescued after engagements in the Atlantic.
